APPRENTICE SEWING MACHINIST - TensARC

We are looking for motivated individuals who are prepared to work hard, strive to be the best they can be, can perform under their own initiative but enjoy working as part of a team. For this role you should take pride in doing a good job and have a good eye for detail. As part of our production team you will also be involved in the quality control inspections and packing and presentation of the final items.

Our customers love our products and we love the work that goes into creating them. We are looking for people who want to come and join us to help grow our business.

In addition to on the job training by highly qualified staff you will be required to undertake a MA level 2 in Fashion and Textiles Heritage – The course is broken down in to modules, the modules are a mixture of general requirements for this industry and the specific skills required for this position. The course is work place assessed and typically takes 18-24 months to complete.

Starting salary is the minimum wage up to £6/hr (rather than the lower apprenticeship wage). Individuals will be assessed at 3, 6 and 12 months and those that perform at or above the required standard will be rewarded with immediate pay increments. This position currently pays a min of £15,210 once fully qualified for a 37.5 hr week. Benefits include company pension, group annual bonus and early finish on a Friday.

In addition to the potential to advance within the production team, opportunities within sales and design are also available to suitable candidates. The bottom line - we will actively encourage you to maximise your potential in our company.

About Us: tensARC is fundamentally a design company and everything we design, engineer and make is tailored to the exact requirements of each customer (large or small). This is a premium brand with a premium solution - with the fabric and all components having been developed in-house to best meet the technical requirements of each application. We work very closely with each customer to deliver a service that matches their need and exceeds their expectations. InShade is our new flagship product, it is innovative and is already creating a lot of interest in the industry. In order to meet increased demand we have just invested in a dedicated production line using state of the art equipment.

Please send CV's to: info@tensarc.co.uk explaining why you are interested in the role and mark for the attention of Mr P Baglin.
